Welcome!

Welcome to a hotel with a unique and suggestive charm born from the old Roman Spa. 120 years of hospitality and more than 2000 years of Spa centers... now completely renovated. A suggestive mixture of tradition, design, natural materials and innovations marked by the elegance and care of every detail. Here, Nature and Relaxation are the stars; materials are rich in energy with wood, glass and stones alternating themselves and creating a warm and welcoming environment. Thermal Water and Clay are our strong points in the wise hands of our Wellbeing Operators. The staff, both careful and warm, are always available to meet your needs discretely and effectively. Pleasure in every sense and in every season... a real shelter or your second Home.

Thermal water

A Gift from Nature

A UNIQUE RICHNESS IN THE WORLD

Unique in the world and appreciated since prehistorical times, the thermal water of Abano Terme is used for a many treatments and get fit programs. Thermal water is used in the swimming-pools, for thermal bath therapy, for inhalations and for maturing, preserving and regenerating thermal mud. The thermal water of the Terme Euganee comes from the rains that fall in the Pre-Alps and flows 3000 m underground for about 80 km. During its flow, which lasts decades, water gets to about 100° C and cools down while it rises up and sprouts at about 80° C. The calcareous rock the water crosses make it rich in efficient mineral salts such as sodium, potassium, magnesium, iodine, bromine and silicon. The Hotel Terme Neroniane has 2 springs from which the thermal water springs out hot, mineralized and therapeutic; then it is cooled down to be used at the suitable temperature in the swimming-pools (between 29° and 35° C), for the bath therapy (36°-38° C ) and inhalation therapies.

Thermal clay

A resource we certified

BIO-THERMAL CLAY: THE OTHER NAME FOR “MUD”

The Hydrothermal Basin of the Euganean Hills is a huge open-air laboratory where nature creates one of its most powerful and effective anti-inflammatory agents: bio-thermal clay also known as thermal mud.

The Hyperthermal water of this region flows over clay which is kept in proper tanks and causes a transformation process that makes the clay modify its chemical-physical characteristics and develop an organic part (microflora and humus) and gets enriched with minerals and ions to become “mature” mud. This 100% natural medicine has healing properties that are recognized all over the world. Clay acts on the cell metabolism of the joint cartilage by relieving pain, reducing inflammation and stimulating bone metabolism, and it gives excellent results for prevention too. Our spa center, which has its own natural springs, has obtained the “1st super” qualification from the Italian Health Ministry and that means we respect the natural resources and apply strict rules for using water. The European Patent no. 1571203 protects and guarantees the presence in the thermal spa of all active principles, which are naturally produced in the maturation process.

Massage therapy

Regenerating and relaxing

THE OLDEST TYPE OF PHYSICAL THERAPY

Massage is the oldest type of physical therapy used by different civilizations throughout history to alleviate pain, relax muscles and reduce tiredness. Now massage therapy is part of physiotherapy, alternative medicine and beauty treatments. Various types of massages are available with different goals, for relaxing, stretching the muscles, after a workout, for painkilling or for fighting water retention and cellulite. Other techniques are considered similar to massage and they are often used together with it such as Shiatsu and Ayurveda, both come from Eastern traditions. The massage therapy consists of different movements made on the body to relieve muscular and joint pains, to reduce stress and muscular fatigue, to tone tissues and improve the psycho-physical conditions of the person. The massage therapy gives benefits to the body because it improves the blood and lymph circulations, relaxes muscles and provides a general feeling of wellbeing.
